

Streatham Festival 100 Club

Help shape the future of the Streatham Festival

In 2001, a group of community enthusiasts gathered to create what became the first Streatham Festival - a handful of activities over one weekend.

By 2010, the Festival had grown to 50 events over nine days. As we mark our 10th anniversary in 2011, we have grand plans for the decade ahead.

Each year, it costs more than £30,000 to produce the Streatham Festival - money we have to raise entirely from scratch. We need to find over £20,000 just to deliver our headline opening event, Big Day Out on Streatham Common. We know how much the community loves the Festival. We're one of the only large-scale arts and cultural events in the area, a showcase for local, national and international talent and a celebration of everything that's good about Streatham. We've seen our audiences grow year on year, with more than 7,000 people enjoying Big Day Out in 2010. None of it would be possible without our army of amazing volunteers from all walks of life.

Now we're looking for 100 exceptional people who can help us reach our fundraising goals by becoming founder members of the Streatham 100 Club. An annual donation of £100 will fund a young people's dance workshop, deliver a project to care-home residents, encourage children to engage with literature; the list is as endless as the possibilities. In such a tough economic climate, we realise we're asking a lot of you.

Which is why we're committed to trying to match every £100 you donate with funding from other sources. It means your donation is potentially worth twice as much to the Festival. In return, you'll get privileged access to the Festival, some exclusive events and the satisfaction of knowing that thousands of local people will be laughing, learning, experiencing and enjoying all that the Streatham Festival has to offer thanks to your exceptional generosity.

Any donation makes a huge difference to us. So please complete the simple form below. Cheques by post are preferred, otherwise please email us for alternatives.

Thank you for helping to secure the future of the Streatham Festival.
